"What's on the Menu" food preferences research

This is a study to understand people's food preferences in order to design a food recommendation algorithm to suggest good food to eat based on your food preferences.

This survey is part 1 of a two part survey where we are asking you to select your food preferences of a list of food and provide us understanding of what food you like.

Part 2 of the survey providing a list of recommendations based on your selections in part 1 of survey. We'll email you details of part 2 of the survey

Note: It is optional to participate in Part 2 of the survey

Completing and returning this survey is taken as evidence of your consent to participate. The information given by participants will be be aggregated together so that participants will be anonymous to everyone except the researchers and supervisors involved. Only the researchers and supervisors involved will have access to this information.

If you have any ethical concerns about this research, please contact Associate Professor Susan Corbett (susan.corbett@vuw.ac.nz), ph: 04 463 5480, Convenor, Human Ethics Committee, Victoria University of Wellington.
